CAMBRIDGE, August 24, 2009 – The critically acclaimed chamber music group Radius Ensemble has been appointed Ensemble in Residence at MIT for the 2009-2010 academic year. Radius Ensemble will present a four-concert series at MIT's Killian Hall (160 Memorial Drive in Cambridge) and collaborate with faculty on other projects, including the Ed Cohen Memorial Concert. MIT students will be admitted to all Radius Ensemble concerts at MIT free of charge when they present a valid MIT ID.

Among Radius Ensemble's members is clarinetist Eran Egozy, MIT '95, co-founder and chief technical officer of Harmonix Music Systems, creators of the original Guitar Hero, Rock Band and Rock Band 2, and the forthcoming The Beatles Rock Band. In 2008, Eran and his Harmonix business partner were named to the Time 100 list of the world's most influential people. Eran has been a member of Radius Ensemble since 2001.

Radius Ensemble, now in its eleventh season, has earned rave reviews and a dedicated following by reinvigorating classical music for a new generation. A chamber music ensemble of winds, strings, and piano, Radius performs music from the classical period to the modern era, from beloved masterpieces to undiscovered gems. Its musicians are outstanding professionals inspired by tradition, willing to take risks, and committed to connecting with a diverse group of listeners. Founded in 1999 by oboist and impresario Jennifer Montbach, Radius's season includes a four-concert series at MIT's Killian Hall in Cambridge, where the group is ensemble in residence for the 2009-2010 academic year, as well as a four-concert series at the Rivers School Conservatory in Weston, where the group is also ensemble in residence. Radius has also appeared on concert series throughout New England, including the Rockport Chamber Music Festival and New York's Music in Chelsea. Radius has commissioned and premiered numerous works by Boston-area composers and has won several Meet the Composer grants from the National Endowment for the Arts/New England Foundation for the Arts. Committed to community outreach, Radius presents a free Saturday-morning family concert in Harvard Square, and a distributes free tickets to disadvantaged children and their parents or mentors through local community service agencies.
